

Columbines School of Botanical Studies

Portland Winter Classes

Physiology for the Herbalist

Howie Brounstein and Kristi Reese

By popular demand we are presenting this class in Portland, Or.

This 36 hour, eighteen class series is designed to have you remember the basic physiology concepts. Students who have had one year of herbal training with another herbalist may participate in this class. This introduction will focus on membrane physiology, and the nervous and digestive systems. This same class was taught at Michael Moore's Southwest School of Botanical Medicine for seven years, and is ideal for those wishing to study with physiology oriented herbalists such as Adam Seller. It will run all day for three weekends, January 28, 29, and February 4, 5, 25, 26, 2012. The cost is $400; a $50 deposit is required. The required text is The Physiology Coloring Book by Kapit, Macey, and Meisami.

Deposit required to reserve you spot.
Contact 541-687-7114 for more information or a reservation.
PO Box 50532, Eugene, Or 97405
www.botanicalstudies.net
Space is limited.

